REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India. BY DR. GRO. WATT, CLE,

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government

Printing, Calcutta.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of Printing, Calcutta.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; labitat or source; history; properties and uses, both chemical and industrial; trade statistics; markets, &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to acientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributions have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries, and confirmed the vernacular names; so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

ation, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 550 royal pages; Volume II is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891; but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary; and this as a work of reference, It is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs. 30 and in England 2 guiness, payable in advance, for the complete set An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 amms per volume, and for England at 2 rapees 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half only or half morocco, Rs. 6 and 8 shillings respectively will be charged extra for the whole sets.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India. BY DE. GEO. WATT, C.I.E,

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India is the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first two volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

Printing, Calcutta.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a miform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vermoular, and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses, both chemical and industrial; trads atmisties; markets, dc. The work is arranged alphabatical, y according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important variancular manner are also given as cross references so that hable difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributions have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries, and confirmed the vernacular names; so that the Dictionary contrased the remacular names; so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent ation, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 659 royal pages; Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891; but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an index to all the sermaoner and other mames contained in the Dictionary; and this as a work of reference, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The price to subscribers will be in India Rs. 30 and in England 3 guiness, payable in advence, for the complete set Au extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annae per volume, and for Eucland at 2 rupues 6 annae per volume.

For copies bound in balf celf or half moroeco, its 6 and 8 shillings respectively will be charged extra for the whole sets.

where sees, explied to non-subscribers till the work to com-pietr, and no simple volume well be sold separately. The price to non-subscribers well be the 45 in India, and 3 guiness in Eugland, exclusive of packing and postage.

their names with the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses, both chemical and industrial; trade statistics; markets, dec. The work is avranged alphabetical, according to accentific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India. BY DR. GRO. WATT, C.I.E.

Printing, Calcutta,
The Distingury is intended to deal with the relative

Printing, Calcutta.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses, both chemical and industrial; trade statistics; markets, &c. The work is arranged alphabetical, according to accentific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientifi; name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributions have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries, and confirmed the vernacular names; so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information and the presents.

confirmed the vernacular names; so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 659 royal pages; Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Volume III is in course of preparation, and will contain the letters D, E, F, and G. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in six volumes by 1891; but a seventh volume may also be issued consisting of an index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary; and this as a work of reference, it is boped, may prove of considerable value.
